region, with the omerate or the Fennsylvania Hallroad, may arrive at an understanding that will secure the completion of the Charlers road at an early day, yet there is nothing in the success or fallure of this movement to prevent the discussion of other reliroad enterprises, or the pushing of them to completion. Just now appears to be the proper moment to inargurate discussion, and to arouse the people upon the importance of another and even more important railroad through Washington county. We refer to the completion of the Hempfield. Almost forty miles of this road lie within the limits of our county, and, if completed, would develop and open to trade and commerce more than three times as many miles of our great and fertile county, as any other road either built or contemplated. The rapidity with which miles of our great and fertile county, as any other road either built or contemplated. The rapidity with which the Pittsburgh and Connelisville Railroad is being pushed to completion makes a movement for the building of the Hempfield more important, as well as more fessible. Hon, John W. Garrett, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Hailroad Company, an a recent address to that company, after alluding to the great success of his company and its important connections—contemplated and completed—gives the following graphic description of the advantages

Xou will divide at Pitusburgh with the Pennayl-vania road the immense abusiness of those fertile and extensive regions; and, prosperous as has been Baitimore, un-der the influence of your previous en-terprise, the results from this work will rise, the results from this striking, seeven greater and more striking, iness, wealth and population will

Business, weath and population will flow from this source in a mighty volume to Baltimore."

This important railroad link between Pittsburgh and Baltimore can be tapped by the completion of about thirty miles more of the Hempfield. The result of such a connection cannot be too highly estimated. Such a route, in the sult of such a connection cause, in the highly estimated. Such a route, in the hands of the Baltimore and Ohio Raffrond Company, would give that great corporation a road from Wheeling to Cumberfand, more than forty miles shorter than their present circuitous route by Gration and over the Cheat Mountains, and would place the great West more than seventy miles, by rall-road, nearer Washington City. The Rew War Cloud in Eastern Eu

The situation in Eastern Europe is becoming more, warlike and threatening. It is confirmed that the ultimatum of Turkey has been declaively rejected at Athens, and both Turkey and jected at Athens, and both Turkey and Greece are preparing for a great war. The Sulian is resolved to enforce his demands that Turkish vessels may overhaul the Greek to see whether they oarry supplies for the insurgents of Crete; the Greeks long for hastening the orisis on the Eastern question. The Turks have dispatched four frigates to udvantages backed by liberal and prompraction on the part of the citizens along the proposed line, we have no doubt would scoure the co-operation of the Baltimore Company, and the speedy completion of the road.

What would be the result of building such a road? It would be scarcely possible to justly estimate the advantages. First, we would have a great through road—a commercial thoroughfare—that would sone command a very large portion of the trade from the onopoly of the travel from the and the had caused articles in favor of Alaska to be sent to various newspapers, which were published without cost to anybody, and that he had spoken in the Russian Minister about Robert J.
